LEGISLATURE AT WORK South

THE DAY OCCUPIED FOR THE MOST PART WITH SECOND READINGS.

Fee and Salary Bill and Charter Amendments Passed-To Drive Out Lobbyists.

Both houses of the Legislature were in session yesterday for the first time on Saturday since the session began. The House passed the Senate bill correcting the fee and salary law of 1895. By an inadvertency the act of 1895 required the salaries of county treasurers and auditors to be made up out of their official fees, and there are no fees to speak of connected with these offices. An effort was made to overthrow the law on this ground, but it failed. A number of boards of county commissioners in the State allowed these officers the salaries named in the bill regardless of the fees, and another bill is on its way to legalize this action of the commissioners and require those who have not done so to allow the salaries. The County Officers' Association has a bill in the Senate creating a new system of payment, partly by fees and partly by salaries.

The Senate spent nearly all the morning upon second reeadings, though it passed ing the Senate adjourned until noon Mon-

Upon the advice of the attorney general the comaries and requiring those who have not done so to allow them forthwith, was held back until after this first act shall have the House with the same ease that this one has. The House then took up committee reports, and the first action of importance introduced by Mr. Thomas. Mr. Thomas was not on the floor to oppose the report, and it was concurred in with probably not half a dozen members knowing what they were voting upon. report and resolution were adopted by a vote of 42 to 34. WORKED WITHOUT A QUORUM. There was no quorum at the afternoon session of the House and the time was occupled with the introduction of new bills and bills on second reading. This lack of quorum came near being disclosed twice when Mr. Monyhan and Mr. Rifenburg asked for the suspension of the rules. In each instance Mr. Nicholson hustled to the member and had him withdraw his motion. The roll call for the introduction of bills was gone through and thirty new measures were introduced, most of them by request. Mr. Newton introduced a bill to establish another state normal school, to be located at Indianapolis. Mr. Smith, of Allen, had a bill amending the election law so as to provide heavy penalties for any effort to intimidate employes. It is an echo of the celebrated "intimidation" cry raised by the ence to the sound-money railroad vote.

Popocracy in the last campaign with refer-Mr. Packard introduced a bill to pay the deficiency in the Prison South appropriation arising under the Patten administration, which has been carried by Warden Hert in the shape of a note in bank for a couple of years. Mr. Hedgecock introduced a bill to create a board of pardons, composed of four members, who shall investigate all applications for a pardon and advise the Governor, in whom the pardoning power is vested by the Constitution. This s a measure that has been advised by every Governor of recent years. Mr. Remington introduced a bill making mandatory upon the state prisons the establishment of the grading system which is in such successful operation at the Prison South. Dr. Patterson, of Franklin, aimed a blow at everybody's best girl by introducing a bill prohibiting the manufacture and sale of colored candy or candy containing any deletrious matter of any kind. Mr. Herod introduced a couple of amendments to the present law regulating building and Shively in the Senate the day before authorizing the use of voting machines, but not favoring any particular machine. The speaker introduced a couple of bills, one of which was a copy of the Saively anti-trust bill, which was killed by the Senate ju diciary committee. It is said that this bill was drawn by Judge Shively, of Wabash. The House took up the order of second readings and "plugged along" an hour or more with minor bills. The first bill of importance struck was the Jernegan bill regulating female and child labor. It was made a special order for next Tuesday. The Adams-Jay court bill came up on second reading and an argument was precipitated by a motion of Mr. Blankenship to strike out the enacting clause, thus killing the bill. Mr. Eichhorn spoke for the measure and declared that there was great necessity for it in those two counties. Mr. Smith, of Tippecanoe, spoke against it on the ground of economy, and the matter was finally postponed until next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The House then continued to work away until nearly 5 o'clock, though several motions to adjourn were made and voted down by members who wanted their bills put through this secon-

Recently the county treasurer has entered into an arrangement with the city officials whereby the accounts of special city assessments shall be kept separate and distinct from the county business. This necessitates the employment of additional clerical force-in fact, creates a new department. It is to meet the additional expenses that the increase of salary is made, so it is said, Bill 340 makes it the duty of the county treasurer to notify property owners of asprovision has been interpolated:

sessments made against them for street and other public improvements. The following "Upon receipt of the certified copy of the assessment roll by the treasurer it shall at once become his duty to notify each person affected by the same of the amount of the assessment against him by placing in the postoffice in such city a notice addressed to such person. The treasurer shall also, on the first Monday in each month, give notice in some newspaper of general circulation to persons who have failed to take advantage of the opportunity to make payment of assessments made against him in ten annual installments, or pay in cash the amount of said assessment within thirty days from the date of the approval of the final estimate by the Board of Public Works, by publishing a description containing the name of such person, the name by which the improvement is known and the amount owing by each person, and a statement to the effect that unless such assessment is paid within thirty days suit will be instituted for recovery of the amount due. The treasurer shall add to the amount due from each person so notified 20 cents for each tract or parcel of land mentioned in the advertisement, and collect the same to cover the cost of such advertisement, and such sum shall be added to the amount due from each person and shall be included in and covered by the lien of the assessment." Under the law the contractors are required to give notice of assessments. This often neglected, frequently wilfully, When postal cards are sent they often miscarry, and the property owner has no notice that there are assessments against his real estate until he receives notice of a sult brought, in which he must pay attorneys' fees and court costs. City Controller Johnson says that the clause providing for the publication on the first day of each month of a list of names of persons who have failed to pay in cash or take advantage of the Barrett law and who are delinquent with a notice that suit will be brought will reduce the number of delinquents to the minimum. Real estate agents and attorneys will watch such notices closely and keep their friends and clients A number of important changes in the charter are made by Bill 341. The first is to enable the Board of Public Works to improve Kentucky avenue in the vicinity of Greenlawn Cemetery, where half of the roadway is occupied by a railroad and against which there is no abutting property that can be assessed for the improve ment. The amendment says: "If it may deemed necessary by the Board of Pub-He Works to improve only a part, or one side of any street or sidewalk, or other pubic place in such city, then one-half of the cost of such improvement shall be assessed ting upon adjacent to such half or side of now provided by law." The next amendment provides that unpaid and delinquent assessments for street improvements shall attach to the real estate as delinquent tax liens do, and for sales as tax sales are made. Penalties attach in like manner. All provisions of law in reference to the certificate to be issued to a purchaser of lands and lots upon sale for State, county, township, road, city, school and other taxes; the effect of such sale and the rights of the purchaser; redemption therefrom; the making of deeds upon failure of redemption, and as to the force and effect of such deeds; for the quieting of titles acquired thereunder; for transferring to the purchaser the original lien for the taxes and municipal assessments for which the sale was made, and subsequent assessments paid; and for the enforcement of such lien by judicial proceedings, when the purchaser fails to acquire a valid title by virtue of the purchase; and as to the interest and penalties to be collected upon redemption from such sales before deed is the title or enforce the lien of the purchaser; and all other provisions of law relating to the collecting and accounting for State, county, township, road, city, school and other taxes, shall, so far as the same are applicable, apply with like force and effect in the case of municipal assessments in cities of the class referred to in this

The insertion of a dozen words in another part of the same section will, it is said, effectually stop the practice of shyster attorneys who make a habit of taking delinquent interest coupons from improvement bonds for collection at a ruinous fee, payable by the property owner who has been so unfortunate as to become delinquent, oftimes through ignorance of the fact that he owed the city anything. At present the law provides that bonds, when ssued, shall transfer a lien upon the real estate as security for the payment of the bonds and coupons until they are paid, with "full power to enforce the collection thereof." To this has been added, "if such oond or coupon be not paid on presentation to the treasurer.'

Arrangements have been made for fund for the payment of coupons at maturity. With this fund at his disposal the treasurer would at once take up any from exorbitant attorney's fees. Building and Loan Bill. Mr. Peckinpaugh, by permission, introduced the report of the building and loan

A New York paper says of it: "It is rather unusual that a scientific testing device should prove to be more potent in holding the attention of the crowd at the bicycle show than any particular feature of the bicycle itself. But such has been the case all the week thus far with the dynagraph exhibited in the Waverley Salt Lake City, Utah ... 18 stand, on the main floor. The aisle in front of the stand has been crowded afternoon and evening with the people watching this remarkable instrument. The dynagraph is the invention of Chas. E. Hadley, the mechanical expert of the Weverley factory at Indiana polis. It is designed to indicate and register the degree and variations of friction in bearings, and is the only one of its kind ever perfected that is really practical. It is a remarkably delicate piece of mechanism, and is sensitive to the slightest variation in friction, even though caused by a speck of dust. "The recording is done on a card on the plan of the self-registering thermometer. except that a swinging pendulum supplies the motive power instead of clockwork. The card is ruled with parallel lines, the topmost one of which shows the minimum of friction. An absolutely true bearing would be recorded on the card by a straight line without a break in it. The slightest variation in the bearing causes the penpoint to swerve, and thus indicate a break in the line. The scientific and practical value of Mr. Hadley's invention cannot be overestimated. This is illustrated by a recent test made at the Waverley factory on twopoint and three-point bearings. Two wheels of exactly the same adjustment, one having tow-point bearings and the other threepoint, were tested in the dynagraph, with the result that the former was found to

Warden Harley, of the northern peniten-tiary, one of the kindest hearted men that ever lived, declares when a man has been in prison twenty years or more it is more likely to be a cruelty than benefit to pardor him. There are, of course, exceptions, but the rule is that such prisoners have no friends in the outside world, and they soon find themselves miserable and longing again for prison. "An exception," says Mr. Har-"is Stotler, who was in prison for a murder committed in Randolph county, and who was recently pardoned by Governor Matthews. He had served twenty-nine years on a life sentence. I received a letter from him the other day. He is in Nebraska with his brother, and he is bubbling over with gratitude. Sometimes a small favor granted to a prisoner appears a great one to the poor fellow who is cut off from the outside world. The other day I asked William Lee, a 'lifer' from Tippecanoe county, who has been in prison twenty-nine years, if he had ever seen a street car. He said no. 'I will show you one,' I said, and took him outside the prison walls. He was all of a tremble when the car came by. Two dogs were running past at the same time. He | HELEN YERKES, Principal. was greatly interested in the dogs. 'How beautiful they are,' he exclaimed. As a matter of fact they were the commonest of dogs I have seen for fifteen years.
